

CHILD SUPPORT EVADER PAUL TIMOTHY DAVID

by Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott

ATTORNEY GENERAL GREG ABBOTT NEEDS

your help to find Child Support Evader Paul Timothy David, one of the Most Wanted Child Support Evaders in Texas. David, who was named a Child Support

Evader in 2013, owes more than $115,000 for his three children's care. David has gone underground to elude officials and willfully avoid arrest.

When the parents divorced in 2000, David was ordered to pay $750 per month in child support. David, who had the ability to make his payments, did not follow the court's order to support his children financially. By 2002, he owed $5,700 in unpaid child support. After giving David many opportunities through the civil court process to pay what he owed, investigators with the Attorney General's Child Support Division referred David's case to the Jasper County district attorney and a criminal indictment was obtained. David is now wanted on felony charges for criminal nonsupport.

David has not made a child support payment since 2009, when he contributed $250 toward meeting his children's needs. By refusing to provide the financial resources his two sons and young daughter need, David has turned his back on his children and violated the law. A combination of missed payments and interest that accrues on unpaid child support adds up to more than $115,000 in unpaid child support David now owes.

Investigators from the Attorney General's Office have searched the state for David, who may be hiding in one of these Southeast Texas towns: Buna, Kountze, Humble or Jasper. Other leads indicate David may be living in Waynesboro, Virginia; he may be self-employed or working for cash to avoid garnishment of wages to pay child support. Texas law requires the Office of the Attorney General to publicly identify certain parents who are delinquent in the payment of child support. The Child Support Evaders are selected because they have the ability to take responsibility for their children, but refuse to do so. Incarceration is the only option for parents who repeatedly ignore court orders to pay child support. The Attorney General's Office helps parents who lack the ability to pay child support by referring them to job training and employment services.
